

Iain Jardine, Water Hygiene Consultant, Solway Water Management

Iain Jardine has been involved in the water hygiene and Legionella control industry for 12 years, his background was working mainly in the public sector and NHS. He formed Solway Water Management in 2017, as he seen a requirement for a local water hygiene company to be based in Dumfries and Galloway that specialises in Legionella management, private water supply maintenance and the safe management of hot tubs. SWM core clients are mostly in the tourism and hotel industry including private estate owners and farmers diversifying into holiday let industry..

SWM microbiological water sample 450 hot tubs each month covering the whole of Scotland and Northern England, they can provide Legionella risk assessments, BISHTA hot tub hygiene training, private water supply sampling and water tank disinfections. All SWM clients that sign up for the hot tub management will also have access to their hot tub application that can be downloaded to a smart phone to record daily chemical checks.

SWM became ASSC Supplier Plus members in 2020 to help promote safe hot tub management and Legionella control within the Scottish tourism industry.
